Recently, I was invited to give a pro-life talk. There was a young man in the second row with tears coming down his face. It was evident his emotions were stirred towards the truth he was hearing. His friend explained to me that earlier this week he was suicidal, likely from the guilt and shame of taking his girlfriend to get an abortion at Planned Parenthood.

Compelled to comfort him, I sat to his left. I felt moved to share the hope of the Gospel with him. After a few moments of getting acquainted, I began to lead him in prayer. Repeating after my words, he began proclaiming the love of Jesus Christ, and his need of a savior, He repeated after me “Cleanse me with the blood of Jesus Christ.” After we prayed, I looked him in his eyes and reminded him, “There is no now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus. Jesus has set you free from sin and death.”

Not long after, I surprisingly discovered that this young man who prayed to trust Jesus for the first time was actually a Muslim.

You see, it was the topic of abortion, and the sacredness of human life that allowed this young man to be open to the solution of Christ’s cleansing blood on the cross and resurrected life, even having Islamic influence in his life.

Lately, God has presented so many opportunities to articulate the Gospel and see many others to trust him for the very first time. My journey hasn't stopped there; much of my time has also been invested into reaching other organizations, and local churches outside of Texas. This fall, I have been invited to speak on the sacredness of human life and truthfulness of the Gospel to university students at Yale, Chicago, Wisconsin and North Carolina.

With all the ministry opportunities God has presented, with much prayer and fasting, I have felt compelled to step out in faith and start a 501c3 non-profit ministry with a team of friends called Disruptive Truth. I will be partnering with other believers and building a team of talented Christ followers, hungry to reach the lost one soul at a time.

God has given me several ideas:

- What if we mobilized Christ’s existing army of believers who have become complacent and passive in recent times?
- Could we experience a “God disruption” through His supernatural power by proclaiming and teaching the gospel, praying, and leading with excellence in technology, innovation and training?

DISRUPTIVE TRUTH DISRUPTING CULTURE WITH THE TRUTH OF THE GOSPEL

- What if churches (across denominations and races) in cities all across America gathered for a day of prayer and fasting?
- What if the Church took a stand and said, “We’re going to abolish the killing of children in our own city and pray that God shuts down Planned Parenthood.”
- What if thousands of believers were trained in effective evangelism and then went out in the world and boldly told others what Jesus told Nicodemus – “You must be born again?”
- What if I was able to implement for the sake of the gospel some of the strategies, technologies, and partnerships that I learned through 15 years of leadership experience with ministries like Josh McDowell Ministry, I Am Second, Online for Life, 40 Days for Life, Prestonwood Christian Academy and Liberty University?

We officially filed as a non-profit 501c3 with the state of Texas this summer, and Disruptive Truth became not only an idea, but a ministry in the making. I am not alone in decision-making. Our board includes some excellent and godly business and ministry leaders. They are giving great insights into the vision of Disruptive Truth. For the first several months, I’ve chosen to live off my savings and will not take any salary until we raise our first $30,000. Our goal is to raise the first “seed” launch of $30,000 by October 15, and then raise $390,000 for our yearly budget to reach a million people in 2016.

That sounds like a lot of money, but every amount helps tremendously. Would you consider giving either $10, $100, $250 or $1,000 in monthly support to disrupt culture with the hope of the gospel?

We will use your gifts to immediately rebuild our website, create short films, and to create training curriculum for pro-life and evangelism that will be used in churches across America in 2016, a vital year for our nation. We are also getting ready for training events and will need to hire several part-time laborers so that we can see more changed lives. We will also hire one of the best in Christian radio, Kevin Harris to co-host with me the Disruptive Truth podcast/radio program starting this fall. I believe through your partnership in the Gospel, we can change individuals, families and a nation.

Through God’s power, we can disrupt this culture with the hope and truth of Christ. Would you please consider making a tax-deductible donation at <http://disruptivetruth.com/give/> ? Or write your check out to Disruptive Truth, and send it to PO Box 852493, Richardson, Texas 75085.

Together, let’s replace our human spirit of timidity with the spirit of power God gave us and change this generation by showing them how to recreate themselves.

In Christ,

Dave Sterrett
